LACEY CHABERT, TYRON LEITSO,
AUDREY SMALLMAN & MILLI
WILKINSON

An investigative journalist finds herself wondering what would have been had she stayed with the love of her life instead of pursuing a career. With some Christmas magic, she wakes up one morning as a wife to her former love, and mother of two girls. Though initially baffled by her new stay-at-home mom life, she navigates the comical day-to-day challenges of the suburbs and discovers all the love, family and Christmas spirit that she had been missing. Faced with the question of what “having it all” really means, she realizes that being part of a family may be even more fulfilling than her glamorous career.
