When 17-year-old Casey Benson, new to Los Angeles, starts to make friends with some of the beautiful, popular cheerleaders at her school, her mother Holly is pleased. For the first time since the move from San Diego and Holly's divorce from Casey's father, Casey seems happy.

But when her daughter's attitude and behavior begins to change, she quickly becomes alarmed. Holly catches Casey in lies about where she's going, finds gifts and receipts for expensive clothes in her room, and even discovers she's been sneaking out in the middle of the night. Casey refuses to give her mother any answers about what she's become involved in and the two become increasingly estranged.

Worried, Holly hires southern-bred, no-nonsense P.I. Sue Ann to sort things out, and the results aren't pretty. Casey and her cheerleader friends are high school call girls that spend their evenings 'dating' wealthy men in high-end hotels.

The high school hookers had some very prominent clients and when Sue Ann's investigation threatens to expose a shady business man, he has Sue Ann murdered and decides to cut his losses by going after the only other two that might name him... Casey and Holly.
